They might be tiny, but these little fish (left) were the biggest attraction at Sentosa yesterday as Underwater World unveiled its latest displays

Willing visitors were tickled by the sensation of hordes of Turkish spa fish – of the Garra rufa species – gently nibbling away on dead skin on their feet (above).

They were trying out Singapore's first Fish Reflexology spa, where foot reflexologists massaged their feet after dead skin areas were first removed by the fish.

It costs $35 for a 40-minute session for a spa fish pool dip and foot reflexology. This excludes admission to Underwater World Singapore.
